BRATMAN WANTS $10,000

Sues for Alleged Damages Sustained in Cellapse of Building.

The Law and Equity Court yesterday was engaged in the frial of the case of Morris Bratman against Mrs. A. R. Lawrence, in which the plaintiff sues for $10,000 damages, chimned to have been sustained by him as the result of the collapse of the store at 956 West Broad Street on August 19, 1911. The eastern wall of the building gave way when its foundation was weakened by excavations being made for a building next door.

Bratman operated a tailoring establishment at 1966 West Broad Street, and when the east wall collapsed, be claims, all of his household furniture in the flat above was buried in the debris and totally destroyed. The cave-in, he claims, caused other damages, aggregating in value, with the destruction of his household furniture, $10,000. Both the building that collapsed and the one for which excavation was then in progress are the property of Mrs. Lawrence.

The case will be further heard to-day.

Plaintiff Gets Verdict.

Writ of Error Granted.

The State Supreme Court yesterday granted the petition for a writ of error filed by Robert S. Trower, committee for Henrietta S. R. Trower, against Southey R. Spady et als., on appeal from the Circuit Court of Northampton County. This case was once before brought into the Supreme Court under the title of Jarvis against Spady, but was dismissed on the grounds of lack of jurisdiction. The case involves a fight over the will of Mrs. S. R. Scherer, who died in the Western State Hospital, and the form of a bequest she made to one of her daughters, Mrs. Henrietta S. R. Trower, who is at present confined in the Williamsburg Assilum. The other daughter of Mrs. Scherer is dead, and the litigation is consequently still further complicated.

Revenue Agent Chapman Receives Many Reports of Apparent Innocent Law Violations.

Revenue agents throughout the State are having trouble with small dealers, who, apparently innocently, are violating the law by selling fermented liquors without taking out the required license. In the majority of ases, the retailers have purchased the liquors without a knowledge that they contain alcohol, while in several in-stances, direct misrepresentations have been made by the manufacturers their agents.

The liquors are designed for sale a oft drinks, but, owing to their nature, readily forment, and on analysis sho from 3 to 4 per cent of alcohol, which outs them in the class requiring spe-cial taxes. The retailers, not knowing the nature of the beverages, when called upon for the tax, make strenu-ous objections, but, although the vio lation is purely technical, they incur the liability, and are required to furnish the stipulated amount.
